Five Easy Ways to Spot a Scam Phone Call

IRS Special Edition Tax Tip 2014-18, September 2, 2014

The IRS continues to warn the public to be alert for telephone scams and offers five tell-tale warning signs to tip you off if you get such a call. These callers claim to be with the IRS. The scammers often demand money to pay laxes. Some may try to con you by saying that you're due a refund. The refund is a foke lure so you'll give them your banking or other private financial information.

These con artists can sound convincing when they call. They may even know a lot about you. They may alter the caller ID to make it look like the IRS is calling. They use take names and bogus IRS badge numbers. If you don't answer, they often leave an "urgent" callback request. The IRS respects taxpayer rights when working out payment of your taxes, So, it's prefly easy to tell when a supposed IRS caller is a take. Here are five things the scammers often do but the IRS will not do. Any one of these five things is a sign of a scam. The IRS does not:

- Call you to demand immediate payment. We will not call about taxes you owe without first mailing you a bill.
- 2. Demand that you pay taxes without giving you the chance to question or appeal the amount they say you owe.
- Require you to use a certain payment method for your taxes, such as a prepaid debit cord.
- Ask for credit or debit card numbers over the phone.

Threaten to bring in local police or other law-enforcement to have you arrested for not paying, If you get a phone call from someone claiming to be from the IRS and asking for money, here's what to do:

 If you know you owe taxes or think you might owe, call the IRS at 800-829-1040 to talk about payment options. You also may be able to set up a payment plan online at IRS.gov.

If you know you don't owe taxes or have no reason to believe that you do, report the incident to TIGTA at 1.800.366.4484 or at www.ligta.gov.

If phone scammers target you, also contact the Federal Trade Commission at FTC.gov. Use their "FTC Complaint Assistant" to report the scam. Please add "IRS Telephone Scam" to the comments of your complaint.

Remember, the IRS currently does not use unsolicited email, text messages or any social media to discuss your personal tax issues. For more information on reporting tax scams, go to www.irs.gov and type "scam" in the search box.

A man and a woman are sleeping together when suddenly there is a noise in the house, and the woman rolls over and says, "It's my husband, you have to leave!"

The man jumps out of bed, jumps through the window, crawls through the bushes, and out on the street, when he realizes something.

He goes back to the house and says to the woman, "Wait. I'm your husband!" She replies giving him a dirty look, "So why did you run?"

Beware of Fake Social Security Emails

The Social Security Administration (SSA) and Federal Trade Commission are warning Americans about a scam email with "Get Protected" in the subject line. The email describes new features from SSA that monitor unauthorized use of your Social Security number. If you get an email like that, don't click on any of the links or open attachments. Report it by forwarding the email to spam@uce.gov.

Visit OnGuardOnline.gov to learn about common online scams and how to avoid them.

Tax-Related Identity Theft

Tax-related identity theft occurs when someone uses your stolen Social Security number (SSN) to get a tax refund or a job. For important tips on preventing and reporting tax identity theft, refer to the information below.

Warning Signs

To prevent tax identity theft, be wary of any Internal Revenue Service (IRS) letter or notice that states:

- More than one tax return was filed using your SSN.
- You owe additional tax, you have had a tax refund offset, or you have had collection actions taken against you for a year you did not file a tax return.

IRS records indicate you received wages from an employer unknown to you.

The IRS does not initiate contact with a taxpayer by sending an e-mail, text, or social message requesting personal or financial information.

Should you get an e-mail that claims to be from the IRS, do not reply or click on any links. Instead, you should report it to the IRS.

The United States Computer Emergency Readiness Team (US-CERT) provides alerts and tips on how you can protect yourself against U.S. tax season phishing scams and malware campaigns.

Dealing with Tax-Related Identity Theft

If you suspect someone used your Social Security number (SSN) for a tax refund or a job--or the IRS sends you a letter or notice indicating a problem--take these steps:

- Respond immediately to any IRS notice; call the number provided.
- File a report with the local police.

File a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), the lead federal agency for identity theft. You can also eall the FTC Identity Theft Hotline at 1-877-438-4338 or TTY 1-866-653-4261.

Check with the Social Security Administration (SSA) for important SSN information.

Contact one of the three major credit agencies to place a fraud alert on your credit records:

Arbor Day

By Alex "Bud" Gavitt

Last month this writer received a newsletter from the Arbor Day Foundation in Lincoln, Nebraska. The mailing reminds Americans of the benefits trees bring to their homes and communities. One of the best times to plant a new tree in Connecticut is on Arbor Day, the last Friday in April.

10 years ago, 320 million trees were decimated by hurricane Katrina in Louisiana and Mississippi. Through the Foundation's Community Tree Recovery Program, people from 43 states donated money to help residents plant new trees in their yards and rebuild the tree canopy of their communities.

Stated the Foundation's chief executive Matt Harris: "We quickly realized we were doing so much more than that. We were actually helping people rebuild their lives...because with the trees came renewed hope and raised spirits. As new trees began to be planted communities began to be healed."

Besides the lost trees from hurricanes, new trees have been made available to homeowners to replace those destroyed by other storms and tornadoes, and fire ravaged areas such as in Colorado and central Texas. Thousands of new trees were distributed to New Jersey where Super Storm Sandy damaged more than 340,000 homes.

An article in the Old Farmer's Almanac credits zealous tree lover Julius Sterling Morton as the founder of Arbor Day. Morton planted thousands of fruit trees, cottonwoods, evergreens, and beeches on his newly acquired 160 acre treeless ranch in the wilds of Nebraska territory in 1849.

Morton worked as a journalist and politician, becoming secretary and acting governor of the Nebraska territory from 1858-1861. In 1893, President Grover Cleveland appointed him U.S. Secretary of Agriculture. Through his speeches and newspaper articles he urged fellow Nebraskans to plant trees and try new crops.

On April 22, 1885, Arbor Day became a legal holiday in Nebraska. Within 20 years of its founding, Arbor Day was celebrated in almost every state.

Pleasing to Morton was the fact that school children across the country began to celebrate Arbor Day by dedicating the trees they planted to special people.

The Morton family home, Arbor Lodge, is now a state park in Nebraska City, Nebraska. The lodge originally consisted of four rooms and is now a 52 room mansion, complete with a terraced garden, a Pinegrove, and 65 acres with more than 250 varieties of trees and shrubs.
